MINES Workers' Compensation EPO Network

For almost 40 years MINES has been a preferred network for our partners across the country because we have established a reputation for connecting with our partners to provide excellent service to our clients and strive to work with providers that have our client's best interest in mind. Access is an important issue as well as your compensation for these clients and the Workers' Compensation system's needs.

As a behavioral health and business psychology company, MINES and Associates knows how important the client-provider relationship is which why we have built our own quality Workers' Compensation EPO to help us best serve our clients including Worker's Compensation carriers, Third Party Administrators, Professional Employer Organizations, and more. With these values in mind, we are seeking high-quality, expert providers to join our network. The EPO exists parallel to our group health PPO.

Criteria to join the MINES Workers' Compensation EPO

We are looking for licensed providers who have:

- Experience doing systematic desensitization
- Experience with doing IME (Independent Medical Exams)
- Previous or current experience working in the work compensation arena
- Certifications in EMDR or other trauma techniques
- Understanding and support of returning an employee to work in a timely manner as a core tenant in the employee's overall wellbeing (assuming clinical appropriateness)
- Timely reports and calls to case managers and other interested parties

Benefits of Being a MINES' Workers' Compensation EPO Provider

In most cases we are able to pay self-pay rates or the full work comp allowable rate per code. MINES also has a high-touch provider relations department to assist you through the claims process, review cases where you are uncertain how to best move forward, and advocate for your needs with our payers and client organizations.
